DYSPEPSIA.

IS that misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a diabolical arrangement called a stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every fibre and tissue must be nourished, and any trouble with it is soon felt throughout the whole system. Among a dozen dyspeptics no two will have the same predominant symptoms. Dyspeptics of active mental power and a bilious temperament are subject to Sick Headache; those, flesby and phlegmatic have Constipation, while the thin and nervous are abandoned to gloomy forebodings. Some dyspeptics are wonderfully forgetful; others have great irritability of temper.

Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain,

The underlying cause is in the LIVER, and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will

It will correct Acidity of the Stomach, Expel foul gases, Allay Irritation, Assist Digestion, and, at the same time

Start the Liver to working, when all other troubles soon disappear.

"My wife was a confirmed dyspeptic. Some three years ago by the advice of Dr. Steiner, of Augusta, she was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I feel grateful for the relief it has given her, and may all who read this and are afflicted in any way, whether chronic or otherwise, use Simmons Liver Regulator and I feel confident health will be restored to all who will be advised."—WM. PIANOS

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GRANDING merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by State commissioners, from each of these States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—first class imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, dries out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297 50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

SO MUCH PATIENCE.

"O dreary life," we say, "O dreary life!"
And still the generations of the birds
Sing through our sighing, and the flocks and herds
Serenely live while we are keeping strife
With heavan's true purpose on us, as a knife
Against which we may struggle. * *
* * * O thou God of old!
Grant me some smaller grace than comes to these,
But so much patience as a blade of grass
Grows by, contented through heat and cold.

—Elizabeth Barret Browning.

ARTIFICIAL NOSES.

The Abnormal Proboscis Which Belonged to a French Senator.

Artificial noses are generally attached to the face by spectacles. About five years ago a San Francisco dentist made for a Chinese woman, whose face was horribly disfigured, a celluloid nose. The organ was attached by a gold spring to the upper jaw, in the manner in which single teeth are affixed. The spring ran up to where the bridge of the nose should have been, and to this spring the artificial nose and lip were attached by an india-rubber loop. The combined pressure of the spring and india-rubber drew the celluloid mask so close to the face that, being molded to fit the cheeks, it would have looked quite natural but for the lack of that transparency which living tissue possesses. Of course, our funny paragrapher had to have his say after this bit of news appeared. He at once boldly stated that a man out West had a cork nose. "When he keeps sober," said the writer, "it gives him no trouble; but when he is out drinking with friends they want to borrow it for a stopper every time they lose their corks out of their flasks."

There is a true story of a French Senator, a very handsome man, who had a large nose of which he was somewhat proud. He was once riding in a train, when a child, who was in the same carriage, and who had watched the statesman for some time with dilated eyes, began to cry as if its heart would break. The mother could not console it. The little one was afraid of the Senator's big nose, and the mother quietly explained that her child had just come from the masquerade, where he had been particularly excited by the display of large noses. She concluded by requesting the statesman to take off his nose, "for you, I see," she explained, "for some good reason best known to yourself are prolonging the carnival." The Senator protested that he could not accommodate her, assuring the lady that his proboscis was not a false one, but his own. "Touch it," said he. The lady gave a pull at the Senator's nose but it did not come off in her hand. "A thousand pardons," she said, "but pray—oh, pray, hide it with your hat!" The distinguished statesman complied with this singular request, continued his journey with his nose in his hat, and the child's screams subsided.—Brooklyn Magazine.

Gladstone's Elder Brother.

New Work for Young Women.

The very latest occupation for young women who have been delicately reared, but who are compelled by changes in the mill wheel of life to earn a livelihood, is to clean bric-a-brac in the great mansions of New York. They are called bric-a-brac cleaners, and have brushes made expressly for their duties. Not every young woman can become expert at the business. It requires a delicate touch, the greatest care in handling the treasures, and the knowledge how tastefully to arrange the dainty ornaments in a way that is most pleasing to the owners. The work is refined, and just such as a refined young woman would like.—New York Sun.

NOBLEMEN AS BOXERS.

THE MANLY ART MADE A STUDY BY MANY OF THEM.

The Marquis of Waterford's Novel Fight with a Cabman—An Earl's Fight with a Band of "Sweeps"—Knocking Them Down Like Ninepins.

The late marquis of Waterford, among numerous accomplisments, excelled as a boxer, and of his aptitude in this art he was justly proud. He never picked his men; he used to fight coal heavers, dustmen, hodmen, fellowship porters, and others of that ilk, and then give them a Bank of England plaster, and if he ever was caught napping and met a superior bruiser great was his superior's reward. But sometimes an insolent jarvey obtained all the thrashin; and no reward, as the following anecdote will show:

The marquis on one occasion hailed a cab rather early in the morning, and directed the cabman to drive him to St. James' Square, the residence of his uncle, the Archbishop of Armagh. When he arrived at his destination he handed the cabman half a sovereign, but cabby, in the most insolent manner, demanded more. "All right," said the marquis, and, slipping in the house by means of a latch key, he quickly donned his uncle's episcopal robes, and, returning to the door, quietly asked what the cabman required. The jarvey, not recognizing the marquis, and thinking to frighten the clerical swell, gave him some choice billingsgate, whereupon his lordship in his new character knocked cabby down. Amused at the idea of having to fight with a parson, cabby sprang up and went for his man in good style; but the sham prelate foiled every blow, and returned his deliveries with such vigor that at last the cabman, thoroughly beaten, and believing that he had the devil in lawn sleeves for an opponent, jumped up on his cab and was glad to "hook it."

The prince of Chatelherault is a bruiser of the Waterford stamp. Over and over again in the old days of Haymarket roystering he has been known to throw off his coat and go for his man in true pugilistic fashion, and many tales are told of his grace's excellence in the art.

With the exception, however, of one or two members of the Upper House, we thought boxing an accomplishment long forgotten by the peerage, but the following anecdote will show otherwise: A few days ago a noble earl, an apt pupil of a West End professor of boxing, had been dining rather freely at one of the clubs, and as he passed along the strand in evening dress he came in collision with a sweep just emerging from Drury court, who, to steady himself, placed his sooty hands on his lordship's irreproachably white shirt front. To hit out at the sweep was the nobleman's first impulse, and, landing on chummy's nasal organ, the carmine and black were soon mingling.

Nothing daunted, the sweep pulled himself together, and tried all he knew to get on equal terms, but in a short time he was so battered and bruised that his pals from the "lane," who had now mustered strongly, came up, and it was a case of one down the other come on. Stimulated, no doubt, by the bottle or two of port he had imbibed, his lordship knocked the pride of Drury lane down one after the other like ninepins, calmly asking, like Fitzjames of Roderick Dhu's band, for one and all to come on. We don't know how it might have fared with my lord had not a policeman arrived on the scene and dispersed the threatening crowd; while his lordship, feeling that he had earned a drink, sauntered into a tavern close at hand and partook of a modest quencher.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Fat Boston Women.

"How many fat women one sees in Boston!" said a western gentleman the other day, with a note of admiration in his voice, "and what complexions!" with the note still more vibrant. "I had heard so much of Boston 'intellectuality' and 'eyeglasses' that unconsciously I associated them with attenuated or bony physique and sallow skins that meant midnight gas and indigestion. Instead I am confronted by clear, bright eyes behind the glasses and pink cheeks under them, with well-rounded forms in irreproachable drapery. I do not see how they manage to assimilate Greek translation and good health.—Boston Record.

A Queer Set of People.

They are a queer set, these negroes and "white trash" of the south—a queer set. Rags for clothes, holes with a few pieces of leather around the edges for shoes, some ragged straw or felt dangling over their eyes for hats—such is their general appearance. Their shoes deserve more detailed description—leather, twine, holes, and toes, are mixed up in such inextricable confusion that it is doubtful whether a daily disentangling takes place. How the shoes stay on the darky, how the darky stays in the shoes, how he ever found his way in, once in, how he ever found his way out, are insoluble problems, which, however, do not bother them summer or winter. "Pete," said a citizen to a ragged moonshiner from the South mountains one wintry day, "I should think that big toe of yours would get frost-bitten out on the cold ground this morning; don't it trouble you?" "Oh," replied Pete, "I don't pay no 'tention to dat 'ere toe."—Cor. New York Post.

Fate of the Great Eastern.

After a somewhat checkered career, the Great Eastern seems at last to have fair chance of a green and useful old age. Her debut at Liverpool as a floating temple of amusement has proved so successful that she is to become a peripatetic variety show under the ægis of Capt. William Holland who will take nautical drama under his fatherly protection, and, after steering his ship to victory on the British coasts, will finally take her to the colonies, where she will serve to remind our friends from Great Britain of their 1886 experiences at South Kensington.—London World.

He Could Not Sleep.

When O'Kelley woke up the other morning he looked out of the window and saw that it had rained during the night. "Shure, an' it has rained," said he.

"Yis, didn't ye hear it? It rained awfully had," replied his wife.

"Faith, an' why didn't ye wake me oop?" interogated O'Kelley. "Ye know I niver can slape whin it is raining!"—Detroit Free Press.

Probably Getting Better.

At the springs of Labourbarle:

"How is your bronchitis getting on?" said one invalid to another.

"How do I know? I haven't asked the doctor about it this morning."—French Fun.

OF GENERAL INTEREST.

—The aggregate population of Brooklyn and New York is nearly 2,300,000.

—The most wonderful mineral formation yet discovered is said to have been found near Colville, Nev. The lodge bears the same material from Damascus steel is manufactured.

—As amusements are scarce at Park City, Utah, it is no unusual thing for the entire population to turn out and go thirty miles to witness a wrestling-match or a horse-race.—Denver Tribune.

—England buys $19,252,884 out of the $20,805,824 worth of bacon we export; of hams, $2,454,080 worth out of the $3,231,509; nearly half of the $3,462,538 of pork and about one-third of our surplus lard.

—The honey crop of California will be immense this season. That of Los Angeles County will reach one thousand tons, and this amount will be exceeded by Ventura, San Diego and San Bernardino Counties.

—Mrs. Rose Merklhoffer, aged thirty-seven years, of Williamsburg, N. Y., gave birth to a male child which had whiskers fully half an inch in length on the sides of its face. The child only lived three hours.—N. Y. Mail.

—A new material for bonnets has been discovered in a sort of fungoid substance that looks like leather. The great merit of it is that when soaked in boiling water it becomes so soft that it can be converted into any shape.—Troy Times.

—The Avalanche heads a column of miscellaneous news items from three different States "Missarkalania." The Avalanche would feel mighty bad if some enterprising rival should start a column with the captivating heading of Tenkenalamissarkgeorflortexikalania.—Nashville American.

—In New York a scarlet label lettered in white must be put upon bottles containing preparations in which there are more than two grains of opium or morphine to the ounce. The name and residence of the person for whom the compound is prepared must be placed upon the label.—N. Y. Sun.

—A writer in the British Medical Journal advises people to be careful not to slice up a pineapple with the same knife they use in peeling it, as the rind contains an acrid organic substance which is likely to cause a swollen mouth and sore lips. In Cuba salt is used as an antidote for the poison of pineapple peel.

—Rev. J. H. Munro, of Philadelphia, says that the reason why so many clergymen go to Europe every summer is that the expense is more but little if any more than summer jaunt in this country, the great advantage is that when a across the water they are not likely to be called on "any little emergency."

—A gentleman once riding with a wealthy friend over his ample farm, came to the small farm of a humble neighbor. "That farm is mostly surrounded by mine, and I could have bought it some years ago," said the man of wealth, "but I would rather have such a neighbor than to have his farm." It would be difficult to determine which of the two farmers was most complimented by this remark.—Western Rural.

—A new law in New Jersey is aimed at the deceptive nursery agent. It provides that "any person selling fruit trees and fruit briers, who shall misrepresent the name or nature of said fruit trees or fruit briers, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court."

—Near Rockyhock in a yard, there appeared a few days since a veritable rainbow, the ends of which touched the ground at the distance of about ten feet from the house. It was about thirty feet long and presented all the characteristics of a bow. It staid near the house about five minutes and then receded across a field where it soon disappeared. A light rain was falling, but the sun came out a few minutes after the rainbow departed.—Raleigh (N. C.) News.

A Tunnel to Prince Edward's Isle.

By means of the proposed tunnel from the Canadian mainland to Prince Edward's isle, it is believed that the steam communication may be carried on all the year round, as is the case now in the Clyde, Severn and Thames system. The total distance from Cape Tormentine to Cape Traverse, the two terminal points, is eight and one-half miles, and between these two points are the straits of Northumberland. The plan is to run a tunnel composed of metal cylinders three-eighths inches thick, fifteen feet in diameter, lined with concrete two and one-half feet thick, giving a clear passageway of ten feet, through which cars may be drawn by fireless engines, also to run piers out from the main land on the New Brunswick side, 10,000 feet, and from Prince Edward's side 4,000 feet. To reach the bottom of the straits, which at the ends of these piers is twenty feet below water level, a cylinder will run down a gradual incline. Ventilation of the whole will be secured by means of a shaft sunk about half way across the straits, at which point the water is ninety feet deep.—Chicago Herald.

Odoriferous Flowers of Europe.

Of the 4,200 kinds of flowers which grow in Europe only 420, or 10 per cent., are odoriferous. The commonest flowers are the white ones, of which there are 1,194 kinds. Less than one-fifth of these are fragrant. Of the 951 kinds of yellow flowers 77 are odoriferous, of the 823 red kinds, 84; of the 594 blue kinds, 81; of the 308 violet blue kinds, 13. Of the 240 kinds with combined colors, 23 are fragrant.—New York Telegram.

A Dreadful Sight.

Jack (bursting in suddenly)—Oh, girls, I have seen such a dreadful sight down the lane! Poor, sweet Lily Jones is hanging on a limb.

Omnes—Good gracious! How horrible! Run for a policeman.

Jack—Calm yourselves. She still lives. She hanging on—a limb of the law.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

THE EFFECT OF THE STORM.

The continuing rain storm that has prevailed throughout the entire State for the past four weeks, has caused immeasurable damage to the farmers in all sections, especially in the Sacramento Valley where immense tracts are under water—in fact the whole country from Colusa to Sacramento is inundated. It will take years to repair the damage done to the levees alone, while it would be hard to estimate the damage done to property in that district, to say nothing of the loss entailed upon the State by the loss of a year's grain crop.

From the present indications this winter bids fair to rival that of 1862–62, so well remembered by the old settlers.

Here in Sonoma Valley we have no damage to report, although up to the present time at least 25 inches of rain has fallen. No lands have been inundated and no bridges washed away. No such disaster has ever overtaken this section and while the people of Sonoma Valley are congratulating themselves on their good fortune in this respect, they are not unmindful of the misfortune of those who have taken up their abode in less favored localities and stand ready and willing to lend their aid and assistance, should they be called upon to do so, to the sufferers of the flooded districts.

THE CRONIN JURY.

The verdict rendered by the Cronin jury in their case on Friday was a great surprise to the people of this county. The geographical position of Burke, O'Sullivan and Coughlan, who have been given life sentences, and Kunze three years in the penitentiary and Beggs was acquitted. This remarkable verdict was no doubt brought about because the evidence was purely of a circumstantial nature and the jurymen did not care to assume the responsibilty of inflicting the death penalty. If the above surmise be correct there must have been a grave doubt in the minds of the jury as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, in which case the prisoners should have had the benefit of that doubt and been acquitted. On the other hand if no such doubt existed we can see no reason why the death penalty was not inflicted on Burke, O'Sullivan and Coughlan. The murder of Dr. Cronin was one of most dastardly and diabolical that has ever taken place in this country and the jury in sending these men to prison committed a great crime. They should have been acquitted or hanged. The evidence did not justify any other kind of a verdict.

ANDREW LANG and Joseph Pennell will join in contributing an illustrated article on "St. Andrews" to Harper's Magazine for January. In his drawings the artist has shared the author's desire to have the reader understand "the sentiment of the place, the magic of it, that in St. Andrews which makes one feel a personal affection for this little town, with the sand in the harsh wind that sweeps the streets, with the sea-fog clinging like a shroud to the broken minster, and swathing the stern tower of St. Rule's." Recent reports of the author's prowess in golf will add interest to what he says of the "magnificent game" in this article.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has decided to refuse to renew the lease of the Alaska Commercial Company, which has had the monopoly of the seal fishing for the last nineteen years and which expires soon. By an act of the last Congress the Secretary was authorized to either renew the old lease or throw it open to general competition and after consulting with several prominent officials he has decided to pursue the latter course, believing it the best policy.

THE ANNALS OF A QUIET NEIGHBORHOOD.

[Communicated]

And it came to pass that in the land of Sownohmah there was a tribe dwelling south of that city, in a reigon called Broadweigh and they were called Kicquers; they originated at a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, in the misty ages of Wayback, and their descendants are found every where upon the face of the Earth to this day.

Now, there was continual strife between the rulers of the Land of Sownohmah and the Kicquers from Broadweigh, and on several occasions personal encounters took place, but no great loss of life occurred because the weapon used—the jaw-bone—is a long distance weapon.

The Kicquers from Broadweigh would often leave their fields on the banks of the river and enter the city of their enemies and there provoke the rulers of the city to strife. They would salute the Captain of the Guard with the melody of "Johni get your gunne," and "Chippi get your hair cut," much to the discomfort of the said Captain. The Kicquers also became highly incensed because more favor was bestowed on a strange youth called Schenck-hydrant than to other youths of the same degree. The Kicquers were exceeding wroth thereat.

And it came to pass, that in the springtime a great battle was fought between the rulers of the city, and the Kicquers from Broadweigh. The rulers were armed with a new weapon called the bal-lott, while the Kicquers had their old weapon the jaw-bone, operated by the Chinn. The battle raged furiously from early morning until late at night. The slaughter was almost as great as on that memorable day when Jepthah, Judge of Israel, overcame the Ephramites. The outcome was doubtful until the forces of the rulers from Sownohmah, by a dextrous movement against the left flank of the Kicquers from Broadweigh, drove them into the nine-hole and won a decisive victory.

And it came to pass that the dwellers of the city on the day following, all went to the nine-hole, through and into which the forces of the rulers of Sownohmah had driven the Kicquers, to acquaint themselves with the fate of that unhappy people, and upon their arrival there, lo! the hole had disappeared, the Kicquers having drawn it in after them in their flight.

The S. F. & N. P. Ry. is having trouble over the title to the land upon which Tiburon is situated. It is claimed that by the will of the man who formerly owned it, it could not be legally sold. The company paid all and more than it was worth at the time and has greatly improved it.

Monday the permit to the Salvation Army to beat a drum in their marches about the city was canceled, and they were notified by the City Marshal that if they beat it they would be arrested. Tuesday night only two members of the army appeared on the street with the drum gaily decorated. The police, in attempting to arrest them, were forcibly resisted, not only by the two men mentioned but by sympathizers from the outside, women included, who abused th, officers roundly for doing their duty. A large crowd followed them to the station house where they were bailed out.

THE ROBT. C. JOHNSON ESTATE.

It is Valued at Nearly $2,000,000 --- A Monthly Allowance of $1,000.

The estate of Robt. C. Johnson, owner of the Buena Vista farm in the eastern suburbs of Sonoma, has been appraised at $1,910,551.90. The estate consists of real estate, improvements and personal property in the counties of Sonoma, Marin, San Francisco, San Bernardino, Alameda, San Benito, Contra Costa. The appraisers of the estate, O. Livermore, A. D. Sharon and E. B. Clement received for their services the sum of $1280. They were unable to report how much of the estate is community property, or what part is separate property. The will bequeaths to the widow, Mrs. K. Johnson, who resides at Buena Vista, one-half of the entire estate in lieu of her legal rights to one-half of the community property. Pending the administration of the estate Mrs. Johnson has been allowed $1000 per month for her maintenance.

A Wondertul Recovery.

Mrs. Geo. P. Smoote, a highly cultivated and estimable lady of Prescott, Ark., writes under the date of April 22, 1889: "During the summer of 1887 my eyes became inflamed, and my stomach and liver almost hopelessly disordered. Nothing I ate agreed with me. I had chronic diarrhœa, and for some time my life was despaired of by my family. The leading physicians of the county were consulted, and the medicines administered by them never did any permanent good, and I lingered between life and death, the latter being preferable to the agonies I was enduring. In May, 1888, I became disgusted with physicians and their medicines. I dropped them all, and depended solely upon Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) a few bottles of which made me permanently well—well from then until now."

Disabled from Business.

Several years ago my health failed me and I was compelled to give up my business. I was in constant agony caused by excrutiating pains in my back, liver and stomach. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but without receiving any relief. My attention was called to S. S. S. I tried five bottles of it and received the most gratifying results. I am to-day as healthy and sound a man as you will find anywhere, and I owe it all to the curative properties to be found in Swift's Specific.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house.

You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use.

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Nearly all colds are slight, at first, but their tendency is to lower the system that the sufferer becomes a ready victim to any prevalent disease. The use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the beginning of a cold, would guard against this danger.

The contract for constructing a hose cart for the Sonoma Fire Department was let by the City Trustees last Saturday. Two bids were submitted. One by James Martin, whose figures were $210 and the other by D. Sloper, $184. The latter secured the contract.

The farmers all over the valley are complaining of their places being overrun with hunters, who bang right and left in a most reckless manner. Fences are broken down, cattle are stampeded and shot and other damage inflicted by these invaders. Several farmers have posted notices on their premises this week warning hunters to keep off. They are determined to teach trespassers a lesson by arresting and prosecuting to the full extent of the law all persons discharging fire arms on their premises.

DEATH OF CAPT. DRUMMOND.

He is Found Dead in Bed---Heart Disease the Supposed Cause of Death.

A telephone message from Glen Ellen, received just before the hour of going to press, states that Capt. J. H. Drummond was found dead in bed by one of his hired men yesterday morning. The supposed cause of death is heart failure. For some time past the Captain, whose family is absent, has been living alone on his ranch, and it is supposed that after retiring Thursday night he was seized with an attack of heart disease and expired without a struggle. The deceased was one of the leading viticulturists of this State, and one of the most liberal and enterprising citizens of Sonoma Valley. He was an ex-English army officer and a highly educated gentleman, and numbers among his relatives in England some of its most wealthy and influential people. Capt. Drummond at the time of his death was 38 years of age. His death is a great public loss.

Christmas Exercises at the Presentation Convent.

The Christmas exhibition of St. Joseph's Presentation Convent took place yesterday afternoon. The class-room presentad a most attractive appearance in its holiday garb of evergreens and choice cut flowers. Many evidences of the artistic capabilities of the scholars also appeared in the form of blackboard drawings and designs in water colors and India ink. Being a private exhibition no invitations were issued, only the pastor, Rev. J. J. Sullivan, nuns and pupils of the school were present. At the close of the programme, which reflected credit on both teachers and scholars, Santa Claus suddenly appeared and presented each pupil with a Christmas present. The following programme was excellently rendered: Instrumental solo, Lena Heydt; "See amid the Winter Snow" (chorus), senior girls; salutatory, Lena Heydt; piano solo, "Starlight Waltz," Matilda Cornelius; recitation, "The Wonderful Tree," John McDonell; chorus, "Summer Time," junior boys; recitation, "Do You Best," Alice Kearney; infants' exercises; "Fairy Fingers" (duet), Nettie Marcy and Mollie Ryan; vocal solo, "I'll take You Home Again, Kathleen," N. Haraszthy; piano solo, "Whisperings of Love," Katie McDonell; recitation, "The Unknown Hero," Thos Burke; "Adeste Fidelis," general chorus; vocal duet, "'L Esclava," Amanda and Elvenia Pilastre; recitation, "Hoist Your Row," Ranald McDonell; piano solo, Matilda Cornelius; chorus, junior boys; recitation, "Little Tim's Christmas," James Moloane; piano solo, "Crystal Dew Waltz," Lena Heydt; recitation, Paulina Bartholme. "The Train to Mauro" (a farce), characters, Mrs. Buttermilk (an elderly lady from the country), Miss Emily Kearney; Mr. Bright (clerk at a railway station) S. Wilson; Johnnie Buttermilk (a terrible child), Katie McDonell. "Instrumental solo, Lena Heydt; vocal solo, Natalia Haraszthy.

Election of Officers.

Temple Lodge, No. 14, F. & A. M., elected its officers last Tuesday evening to serve for the ensuing year, as follows: Robert Potter Hill, Master; Sylvanus Harvey Shaw, Senior Warden; Willis Catlet Goodman, Junior Warden; Charles McHarvey, Treasurer; Fred. Longworth Clark, Secretary. The installation will take place on the afternoon of St. John's Day, December 27th, and will be followed by the usual banquet at one of our hotels.

An Equine Contest.

The passenger train of the Sonoma Valley railroad ran over two horses belonging to Capt. H. E. Boyes at 7:30 o'clock last Tuesday evening. One of the horses was thrown high into the air and instantly killed while the other was badly maimed. The accident happened on the Captain's ranch and was caused by the horses trying to cross the track ahead of the locomotive which was running on time.

The Fireman's Ball.

The Fireman's Ball to be given by the members of Sonoma Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, at Union Hall on New Years' Eve, promises to be a great social success. A great many tickets have been disposed of and almost everybody in the valley will be present to dance the old year out and the new year in.

THE BROAD GUAGE.

A Survey Made for the People of Sonoma.

Chief Engineer Zook of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company, with a corps of assistants completed a survey for a broad guage road, north of the present narrow guage road, last Tuesday. This survey of right-of-way was made by request of the citizens of Sonoma, who will endeavor to secure the same without cost to the company should the Donahue people conclude to run through Sonoma, instead of accepting the proposition of the Southern Pacific Company to run over its line from Shellville to Santa Rosa, thus giving this place the go-by. The survey takes in the lands of the Catholic Church property, Mrs. C. Lewis, C. Aguillon and M. G. Vallejo. It now rests with the above parties and the people of Sonoma to say whether or not the future prosperity of the town will be fortified with a broad guage road, which in the near future will become a great transcontinental line, with its terminus at Point Tiburon. This is a matter of grave local importance and in its consideration all petty jealousies and bickerings must be set aside. We have it from reliable authority that in so far as the Catholic Church property and Messrs. Aguillon and Vallejo are concerned there will be no trouble whatever in securing the right of way without cost to our citizens. This is enterprise and public spirit of the right sort, and ought to be emulated by others of our people. The principle of "every one for himself and the devil take the hindmost man," does not apply to this case.

All should pull together on this proposition to the end that all may be benefitted alike. If we do this we will confuse the enemies of Sonoma and more than hold our own.

A BIG LIBEL SUIT.

Dr. McTaggart Sues a Wealthy Napa County Farmer for $25,000---The Libelous Article.

Dr. M. F. McTaggart, formerly of this place but now of St. Helena, has commenced suit against James Dowdell, a wealthy Napa county farmer, to recover $25,000 damages. The complaint alleges that Dowdell on the 7th of last month caused to be printed in the St. Helena Star an article reflecting on plaintiff's reputation as a physician. It appears that about two months ago Dowdell's son had his hand mangled in a grape crusher. McTaggart was called in to treat the injured boy, but the lad died. The article which the Dr. claims to have damaged his reputation as a physician is as follows:

"A CARD TO THE PUBLIC."

"On Monday, Oct. 21, 1889, my son Walter got his hand between the rollers of a grape crusher. The wound consisted wholly of a severe laceration of the back of the hand. In about twenty minutes thereafter I had the boy in the office of Dr. McTaggart, who washed off the wound with water, sewed it up tight, put a piece of cloth over it and sprinkled a little powder on it. On Wednesday evening I became alarmed and called in Dr. Pond. On Thursday morning Pond and McTaggart held a consultation at my place. On Saturday McTaggart lanced the fleshy part of the forearm. McTaggart was there three times on Sunday. About 9 A. M. on Monday I went for Dr. Dawson. Dawson and McTaggart then held a private consultation. At 7 o'clock on Monday evening death terminated his sufferings.

"Is it to be wondered then, that I attribute the death of my bright boy, my faithful, obedient Walter, to the gross ignorance or arrant stupidity of Dr. McTaggart? All human beings are liable to need the advice and professional services of a physician, but if a man loses his wife, his child, his parents, his relative or friend, let him beware, lest he suffer the fate that has been mine.

"It may be asked why I do not prosecute Dr. McTaggart for malpractice. I answer, would that restore my darling child to his fond mother's arms? Even if the Doctor (Heaven save the mark) were not impecunious (which I have good reasons for believing that he is), would any sum in which he should be legally mulcted, put breath into that mouldering mass of clay that now lies in the tomb? Can coin in any amount restore the gentle voice that responds to a father's call or greets a mother's tender love?

"No! Let him go untrammeled of any legal restraint or restrictions, but let him carry with him through life the conviction that one parent at least, attributes the death of his darling child to the ignorance, stupidity or gross negligence of Dr. McTaggart.

(Signed) JAMES DOWDELL."

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure all and makes no pretensions but every bottle will not substantiate.

Mr. A. A. Vallejo, teacher of Spanish and music, has been quite successful in forming classes in this place. Hereafter he will teach in Union Hall every Friday evening. Young ladies who so desire will be taught at the residence of Mrs. Haraszthy.

C. O. Borman, the genial grocer, is kept busy filling orders for his customers. He is single and good looking. Girls, don't all speak at once.

The track on the S. V. R. R. near this place came near washing away last week. Chief Crowley on the section was there in time and repaired the damages.

F. Pell Green, Jim Shaw's big man, recently went to Los Guilicos for the purpose of hauling some heavy freight to the Shaw ranch. He succeeded admirably until he reached the town site of Los Guilicos on his way back. In driving along leisurely he suddenly noticed the wagon nearly out of sight. Further progress in the way of pulling out of the mud was useless and absurd as the town clock struck six and it was getting quite late. At sunrise the next morning Fred was on hand (and we might say right here that for practicability Fred fears no one), and stationed his horses at the foot of Mount Hood and by means of a log chain of considerable length succeeded in pulling it out of the mire. He wended his way home and was heard to say:

"If at first you don't succeed,
Try, try again."

Our Sleeping and Saloon Cars.

Our railway system is confessedly in advance of any other in the world. Our mileage is as large as that of all Europe combined. Some of the English and continental roads are more solidly built; but for comfort and luxury there is nothing comparable to our sleeping and saloon cars. The private cars in which our railway magnates travel are in point of luxury and costliness far ahead of anything of the kind in the Old World. All our leading railway men habitually use cars superior in elegance to those occupied by monarchs in other parts of the world. William K. Vanderbilt, Robert Garrett, Milton H. Smith, Hugh J. Jewett, and some twenty others of our railway people use cars costing from $30,000 to $30,000 each. There are about 190 very costly cars in use, representing $4,000,000 in cash. Of these some sixty cost $30,000 each.

A Mr. Talbot, editor of a railway newspaper, was presented with a car recently, made by Herr Krupp, the famous gun founder. It is of hard wood, Eastlake finish, with a great deal of æsthetic drapery. The observation room in the end of the car is finished in oak, with French plate glass windows extending from the ceiling to the floor, velvet curtains, Wilton carpets and embossed leather furniture, including divans. The bedroom is in maple and amaranth, and opening from it is the parlor, the most elegant apartment of the car. It is finished in solid mahogany, with rich inlaid panels and carvings of rare and costly woods from the Holy Land. The butler's room, pantry and kitchen are models. It would cost at least $60,000 to duplicate this car. Famous actresses have had private cars very luxurious in their apartments. Mme. Patti had such a one, while Mrs. Langtry actually lived in her car when filling her engagements outside of New York.—Demorest's Monthly.

Fine Flavor of Highland Mutton.

In conversation with a reporter an authority at Fulton market said: "The superior flavor of Welch or Highland mutton is beyond all doubt due to the aromatic plants which abound on the pasturage of those hills, and on which the sheep feed. The hills in Wales are thickly covered with wild thyme, while those in the Highlands are full of lady's mantle and other aromatic herbs which are seldom, if ever, found in other pastures. This is a hint of nature's own giving, which the farmer who goes in for sheep raising or dairying cannot afford to despise in these times of hard competition.

"The aromatic herbs may be no less nutritious than clover or rye grass, but they are just as needful to the formation of a perfect pasturage as the other varieties of plants. For this reason they should be grown in all pasturages. They are easy of cultivation, and will grow in the worst ground, but some are, of course, better suited to certain kinds of soil than others. Parsley, loveage, cumin, coriander, carraway, angelica and wild fennel [illegible] in loamy soils, wild thyme, rock [illegible]op, sage, savory and horehound [illegible] soils, and peppermint in moist [illegible]ll and Express.

[illegible]ion?" I asked, in [illegible] The verdict render sketch almost [illegible] hidden by a [illegible] and a Chinese fan.

"Yes," the [illegible] replied, softly, "that is my grea[illegible]t treasure. Let me take it down for you."

The picture was drawn on a gentleman's linen cuff. Neilson, as Juliet, leaned over a balcony—a white robed figure with flowing hair—a crumpled rose in her hands, from which she idly tore the petals. Pinned to one corner of the cuff hung a withered bunch of violets.

"She asked me to visit Booth's," my friend explained, "to see her as Juliet. I went, and this picture is one of the results. A life long remembrance of that most beautiful woman is another. I had no paper for drawing, and removing one of my cuffs, I made the sketch upon that. Miss Neilson saw it afterward in her dressing room, laughed, signed it with her autograph, and taking a bunch of violets which had been thrown carelessly on her dressing table, handed the flowers to me with a bewitching smile. They have been pinned to the cuff ever since. No, I would not care to part with the picture, though I have had plenty of opportunities to sell it. I never glance at it without thinking of poor Neilson as she died in Paris, tearing madly at the couch on which she writhed in her last agony. Somehow she always comes back to me that way."—New York Star.

Relics at High Prices.

A tooth of Sir Isaac Newton was sold in 1816 for the sum of $3,650. It was purchased by a nobleman who had it set in a ring which he wore constantly on his finger. The hat worn by Napoleon Bonaparte at the battle of Evlau was sold in Paris in 1835 for $400. It was put up for sale at $100, and there were thirty-two bidders. The coat worn by Charles XII at the battle of Pultawa, and preserved by one of his officers and attendants, was sold in 1825 for $116,875. The two pens employed in signing the treaty of Amiens were sold in 1823 for $2,500. A wig that had belonged to Sterne was sold at a public auction in London for $1,050. The prayer book used by Charles I when on the scaffold was sold in London in 1825 for $525. A waistcoat belonging to J. J. Rousseau was sold for $190, and his metal watch for $100.—American Notes and Queries.

A French Political Joke.

The French police have received instructions to discover the authors of an ingenious political trick, which consists of defacing the coins of Napoleon III and substituting the name of Boulanger I, empereur, with the date 1888. So far the substitution has been confined to 10-centime pieces, and has been treated as a political joke.—New York Sun.

Tenement on the Island of Malta.

Dr. Plimpsoll's account of a tenement barrack on the island of Malta exceeds, indeed, anything ever reported from the land of the Calcutta black hole. "Their cellar dens," say he, "have no fireplace, and therefore no chimneys, and serve singly for a whole family. They have no windows, and some of them have no other aperture of any kind than the door; and when you have reached the bottom of the pit you find the solid rock, wet with slops and foul with the odor of the children. So little air reaches the bottom that the floor never dries, and so little light that you have to light a wax match to avoid falling down in the doorway. In one house there were three subterranean stories of six cellars in each, and in the lowest of all thirty people were living, thirty-nine feet below the surface of the street.—Exchange
